

1ST BARCELONA KANT WORKSHOP: MIND AND MORALITY

November 4, 2013, 09:15-19:00 h
Dept. of Philosophy, Autonomous University of Barcelona
Seminar room A ("Seminari A")
Edifici B, Campus de la UAB
08193 Bellaterra (Cerdanyola del Vallès)

Speakers:

Josep Clusa (Barcelona)
Saulo de Freitas Araujo (Juiz de Fora, Brazil)
Heiner Klemme (Mainz)
Katharina Kraus (Cambridge)
Jens Timmermann (St Andrews)
Falk Wunderlich (Mainz)

Organized by Thomas Sturm

Registration is free, but please register: tsturm@mpiwg-berlin.mpg.de

Kant stool, designed by Karim Rashid
2006
Architonic ID 1057283

Stool with or without gas lift.
Produced in recyclable reinforced polypropylene, Kant has a carrying capacity of up to 200 kg/440 lbs. of weight despite its characteristic cantilevered construction. The seat's independence from the structure also allows interchange ability between the various colours rendering a total of 63 colour variations. Suitable for indoor and outdoor use both domestic and contract environments, the product is antibacterial because of the certified Polygiene technology used. In the swivel version with gas lift, the basis and the footrest are made of aluminium die casting.

Program

09:15 – 09:30 Opening

Chair: Thomas Sturm (Barcelona)

09:30 – 10:45 Falk Wunderlich: Between Spinoza and Kant: Karl von Knoblauch's materialism

10:45 – 11:00 Coffee break

11:00 – 12:15 Katharina Kraus: What's the matter in inner sense? Kant's doctrine of self-affection

12:15 – 13:30 Saulo de Freitas Araujo: Wilhelm Wundt's early reception of Kant's Critique of Pure Reason

13:30 – 15:00 Lunch Break

Chair: Silvia de Bianchi (Dortmund/London)

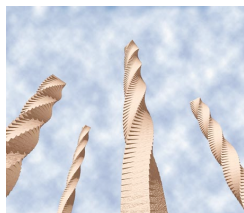

15:00 – 16:15 Josep Clusa: Law and morality in Kant and Aristotle

16:15 – 17:30 Heiner Klemme: Kant on moral self-determination and self-knowledge in 1787

17:30 – 17:45 Coffee break

17:45 – 19:00 Jens Timmermann: Kant on practical irrationality

21:00 Speaker's dinner

UAB
Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona

